

SLUSHY STREETS WILL NOT PREVENT HOLDING OF GREAT LIBERTY BOND DAY PARADE

If Boys Can Fight in This Weather Folks at Home Can March, Committee Says.

CHANCE FOR ALL PATRIOTS

Let's Make a Name For Connellsville; Let's Show the Stuff We're Made Of Is Motto; Street Commissioner to Sweep Streets; Bond Drive Follows

Because the committee feels that if the boys can fight in the trenches in this weather we ought to be willing to march in it, the Liberty Day parade will be held this afternoon in spite of the fact that heavy snow storm coming unusually early in the season has put the streets in a terrible condition and the weather altogether is about as disagreeable as it could be.

The committee at a meeting this morning instead of calling off the parade got properly tried and declared that this was a chance for Connellsville to show its stamina and to turn out stronger than ever in spite of the weather. Let's show what we can do they said. Let's make a name for Connellsville as an intensely patriotic community. Let's show the stuff we're made of.

Every business house in the city will be closed from 2 to 5 this afternoon. The banks will close at noon. They will open again at 5 o'clock and will remain open until 9 to receive subscriptions to the bond.

Everybody was enthusiastic this morning about the parade. Hardly anyone said that he would not march. Let the big people go first, one man said, and they'll stamp off the slush to the side before the little fellows come along. Street Commissioner William McCormick will sweep the streets however before the parade.

A change in the line of march was announced. It was necessary by the decision to hold the rally which follows the parade in the Soisson theater. The parade will form on Johnston and Highland avenues march out Pittsburg to Green to Race to Lincoln to Pittsburg to Crawford to Western Maryland station return to east side of river and disband at Soisson theater.

The parade is expected to be over by 4:15 or 4:30. The Soisson has been engaged for the entire afternoon however, and those who feel they can not march but want to attend the rally will be admitted at about 3 o'clock. Lynn F. Roth will act as chairman of the meeting and the following vice chairmen will be seated on the platform.

Worth Kilpatrick, F. W. Markell, Rockwell Marotta, Charles B. Frank, William F. Soisson, E. K. D. L. T. Norton, Harry Dunn, Robert Norris, Fred Frisbie, Walter S. Uffer, John A. Armstrong, Dr. C. W. Gallagher, J. B. Henderson, T. J. M. Hill, R. R. Floto, George W. Stauffer, H. F. Schenck, J. L. Kurtz, J. C. Long.

The meeting will be called to order by the chairman and Rev. J. I. Proud will lead in prayer. The audience will sing America. Dr. Robert Mac Donald of Pittsburg will then make his address which will be followed by the Connellsville Liberty Bond song. Congressman Bruce F. Satterling of Ligoniza, Dr. Geo. F. Donebo of Coldport and Rev. Nathan John T. Burns will then give talks appearing in the order named. The Liberty Bond song will then be repeated and after the announcement that the banks will be open from 5 to 9 to receive subscriptions the meeting will be adjourned by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner". The Connellsville Military band will lead the audience in the rendition of the national anthem.

The committee is urging business men to decorate in spite of the weather and flags are gradually making their appearance throughout the business section. The Title & Trust building had all its flags out early this morning.

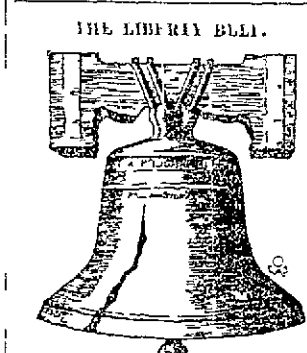

The revised order in which the paraders will appear has also been announced. It is as follows:

Police force

The postoffice was closed from 2 to 5 o'clock and there was no city or express delivery.
"The hotel men this morning decided to close their bars from 2 to 5 o'clock, on most class of business houses to be shut down during the parade."

The Arcade theatre this afternoon gave no performance on account of the rain and parade. The Soisson was also closed.

WOMEN SELL $14,000 UP TO NOON TODAY

Since the opening of the campaign the ward leaders and their assistants have worked incessantly making a house to house canvass. Mrs. R. E. Lamb of Ligoniza general chairman of the women's committee of Connellsville and her assistant Mrs. S. K. Goldsmith are greatly enthusiastic over the splendid manner in which the women have taken hold of the work and with the success with which they have met. Mrs. James B. Mr. Porter's subscription was made through the First National bank and the details were arranged by Antonio Bufano. It makes Mr. Porter's total Liberty Bond holdings about half a million dollars.

Recently E. S. Porter announced the donation of a complete moving picture projection outfit to the new high school.

LIBERTY LOAN MEETINGS FOR COUNTY FARMERS

The farmers will have discussions of the Liberty loan at two meetings to be held Thursday and Friday evenings of this week respectively. The first will be held at the Old Frame Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock. The second meeting will be held at the home of H. J. Dill, Judge of the Union court, at 8 o'clock.

At Flatwoods Friday evening, R. F. Hopwood and R. E. Lamb of Union town will speak. The meetings followed that the farmers are not doing their part in buying Liberty bonds. Liberty loan agent P. E. Dougherty this morning said he thought this was because the farmers had not been properly approached and had been too busy increasing the food production to read up on the matter in indications point to a good standard for the two meetings.

Hospital Man Tells Herbert Shank of Battle With U-boat

In a letter dated "Still Somewhere in France, September 27," Herbert Shank, South Conneltsville lad with the Fifth Engineers, tells Walter DeBolt of being assigned to some special duty which will last a few weeks. Apparently it is preferable to the routine at the engineers' base as more privileges are granted and the soldiers "get better feed." He tells of an encounter with a submarine as related to him by a hospital unit man who saw it. The letter follows:

"Just let your imagination work a little over time and try to picture my writing room. Tent with eight cots in it. A candle on the corner of six of them. This seems to be better night stationery which I got from the 'Y' the last time we were at headquarters. Desk consists of one large piece of cardboard with a candle stuck on one corner of it and resting on my lap. The ink and pen I bought at a store in a small town about half a mile away.

"Aeroplane pass over us in small flocks. In fact, we are at the present time not far from one of the American training camps. Just the other day a fellow who is a graduate of Princeton but who is flying in France, came down and had dinner with us. One of his wire braces broke while he was in the air and he came down to see how bad the war was. He looked her over, said he thought he'd take a chance, and the last I saw of him he was still going.

"At present Julius Crouse and I are with a detachment from our company on a little job which will last for a few weeks. You have a much better time when on these little trips. (Get better feed and more privileges and everything goes better. Don't have all the red tape we have when we get with the company or at headquarters. More like a camping trip. Crouse and I have been lucky. Every place we have been we were always together.

"Was talking to some fellows who belong to the hospital unit which came over on the Finland. If you remember she was one of the boats which had a scrap with a sub. They said they wouldn't have missed it for anything. There were five boats and two convoys came across together. One morning between 8 and 9 o'clock word came from the bridge that a submarine had been sighted. The five boats formed in a fighting circle and the convoys started to circle around them. These fellows said the first they knew that anything unusual was happening was an explosion which almost took them off their feet. It was the gunners taking a chance shot. The first was a miss. The gunners are almost kids, about 17 or 18. They are sure that they got one and thought they had another.

"Am starting a postcard collection of all the cities and towns which we visit. Think they will be good to gaze upon at some later date, don't you? Tell all the fellows 'Hello.' And for the love of Mike why don't you all write. Crouse says 'Tell them Hello for me.' Shank."

"GET CURED OR GET A DIVORCE," HER ULTIMATUM

Husband's Breath Nearly Breaks Up Home—Tanlac Saved It.

"I had such bad stomach trouble that it almost broke up my home," says Wilbur Tamm, of North Seventh street, Harrisburg, Pa.

"My food wouldn't digest, but would just lie heavy on my stomach, and the gas and poison would rise up into my mouth, causing my breath to smell so that it was terribly offensive to anybody who came near me.

"In fact, it was so bad that I could taste it, and it was sometimes enough to sicken me. No wonder people turned their heads when I came near them.

"This had been going on, for quite a while, and it kept getting worse and worse, so finally my wife said to me, 'Wilbur, I can't stand the smell of your breath any longer. Go get cured or get a divorce.' My friends said that Tanlac would do the trick, so I began taking it a few weeks ago. Now all is serene in the happy little home on Seventh street, for my breath is sweet and clean, and Mrs. Tamm no longer has any complaint to make. Tanlac has fixed me up fine, and I can't say enough for it."

Tanlac is being sold here by the Conneltsville Drug Co.

Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Eason's Drug store.—Adv.

CANT SEE JOKE.

Taking of $210 No Frank in the Court's Eyes.

Special to the Courier

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 24.—Joa Madison of Belle Vernon, a porter at the Hotel Kyle, entered a plea of guilty yesterday before Judge Reppert, to-day on a charge of larceny of $210. The porter, who is a foreigner, told the court that he took the money from the proprietor's desk and hid it to "play a joke." He said that he had played a similar joke once before, hiding $500 which was later returned. He insisted that he had no intention of keeping the money, which was found by other attaches of the hotel.

Judge Reppert couldn't see the "joke" and sentenced Madison to serve one year and six months in the workhouse.

The Second Liberty Loan

Something More Than Patriotism

Take time to read this.

The patriotism of the American investor has already been put to test, and proved both fervent and practical.

More than four million subscribers responded to the call of the first Liberty Loan. Of these, probably three-fourths had never before bought a bond of any kind.

Beyond question, it was a great burst of patriotism that brought about the heavy over-subscription of the first loan. Few people sought to analyze it as an investment. It was above all the expression of their determination to help win the war. The second Liberty Loan will be supported by a patriotism even more profound. That may be taken for granted.

But since the Government asks not for a gift, but for a loan, it is no reflection upon the generous spirit of the nation to examine the second Liberty Loan strictly upon its financial merits. When we do so, we find that it is an extraordinarily sound, profitable, business-like investment.

1. The security behind a United States Government Bond is the best in the world.

The credit of the United States is the best in the world. We have a national wealth of probably 250 billions, a national income of about 40 billions yearly and bank resources of 37 billions. One-third of the estimated wealth of the entire world belongs to this country—more than double the wealth of any other nation—three times the wealth of Germany.

2. The amount which the war compels us to borrow and spend does not affect this security.

In the Civil War, the United States raised three billions, although at that time our bank resources were only one and one-half billions. On the same basis, therefore, this country could now support a national debt of 74 billions. Before the present war, our debt was about one and one-half billions. Add to that the bond issues authorized this year, including the present loan, and we are still utilizing only a small part of our resources. We have already entered upon a sweeping campaign of conservation. Everywhere production is being speeded up and consumption reduced. We cannot by these means entirely offset the current wastage of war, but with the coming of peace, this heightened efficiency throughout the entire nation will continue and will speedily restore and even increase our national resources.

3. The rate of interest is exceptional.

The rate of the interest of the second Liberty Loan is higher than any United States Government loan for more than twenty years. The investment is not only sound but profitable. It is exempt from all taxes except estate and inheritance taxes, income surtaxes and excess profits and war profits taxes.

To those who have not figured it out, the fact that the bonds are subject to these war taxes may make them seem less desirable than the first issue. The fact is, that for any investor whose income is less than $100,000 they are more desirable. The interest rate on the previous issue, at 3½ per cent, is one-eighth less than on the new issue at 4 per cent. Therefore, until the tax amounts to one-eighth of the income, or 12½ per cent, the new issue will be more profitable. Since surtaxes equivalent to 12½ per cent of the income will apply only to those incomes greater than $100,000, any investor with less than that income will obtain a greater net return from the second Liberty Loan than from the first.

4. The market value may increase.

These bonds are assured of a broad market, and their price should never materially decrease. They are convertible into any later issue which may be brought out during the war, carrying a higher interest rate. There is, furthermore, a possibility that in future years they may command a considerably higher price. Normally the credit of the United States Government makes possible an interest rate of 3 per cent or less. If, after the war, the interest rate returns to 3 per cent, Government bonds on which the rate is 4 per cent would be paying one-third more than other bonds, and therefore their market value would rise well above par. We recommend that our customers subscribe to the Second Liberty Loan not merely as a patriotic duty, but also as a conservative and profitable investment.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before pushing more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphate hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—Adv.

THEY WILL RESPOND.

It is regrettable that Chairman Kurtz of the local chapter of the Red Cross finds it necessary to make so urgent a plea for a larger number of women of the membership to take active part in the work of the chapter, but no more regrettable than it is to realize that the making of garments, surgical bandages and dressings for the soldiers has been carried on by a mere handful of the membership is presumably due to the failure of the remainder to fully realize that there is more in joining the Red Cross than enrolling and paying the fees. Evidently they have not given serious thought to the needs of the hour to provide articles for the care of the sick and wounded soldiers; inasmuch as the war has not been brought home to us, as it will be when our own boys have reached the firing lines and the casualty lists begin to come in, and having indulged the hope that something will yet happen to bring the struggle to a speedy end, they doubtless have not felt the urgency of the call heretofore made. In this respect the women of the Red Cross differ not at all from the men of the community who have been so slow to realize the meaning of all that is being done to prepare our nation for war.

Whatever may have been the reasons for the delinquency and inaction of so large a part of the membership, Chairman Kurtz has firm faith that once the women of Connelville have awakened to the full significance of the fact that they are already at war, they will gladly, freely and willingly render any service required, "with the knowledge that it is for their country and for their country's defenders and allies."

The purpose of Chairman Kurtz's appeal, which is strongly phrased, is merely to arouse the members of the Red Cross to a realization that the time is now at hand when the work which has been assigned that organization must be done. They are asked to "awaken to the terrible fact that the duty requested and demanded is not made lightly, without full knowledge of the fact that it will possibly inconvenience and be an actual hardship to devote as much time, as should be given to Red Cross work."

The fact is none of us have been sufficiently stirred to face the war situation as we ought and presently must if we are to do our full duty in our country's emergency. We have not yet comprehended the fact that the boys who have gone out from our homes and the homes of our neighbors are giving their all, that the obligation rests upon each of us to make an equivalent sacrifice—a sacrifice of time, of comfort, of necessities or of means that will in some measure be comparable to that the boys are making.

We may dislike to be told of these things, as we dislike to think of war as the countries of Europe know it, but we must bring ourselves to understand that we have the duty of doing the thing we can do—of fighting, if we are eligible for that service; of denying ourselves luxuries and comforts that we may buy Liberty Bonds or provide gifts to the several war auxiliaries; of working with our hands or brains to promote some worthy and needed object, if that be our talent or our opportunity.

The appeal of Chairman Kurtz directs attention of the women of the Red Cross to the form of "invaluable service in knitting and sewing" as the one thing they can do and do well. We must misjudge the loyal, patriotic women of Connelville if we do not respond as they are requested to do, and as they have always done when been brought face to face with an emergency requiring their tender sympathies, deft touch and kindly ministrations.

WOULD THAT BE DISLOYAL?

Postmaster General Burleson has prepared an "Index Expositarius" for the guidance of the newspapers of America. Among other interesting things editors are forbidden to print statements implying or declaring that "the government is controlled by Wall Street or munitions manufacturers, or by any other special interest."

Suppose the papers should print that the government is controlled by Democrats and is being administered by certain "deserving" gentlemen of that political persuasion, and in the interests of certain favored sections? Would that be disloyal, as Mr. Burleson has defined the term?

People back home are it is to know what the 20 cents represents in the Norfolk doctor's charge of $7.25 for handling a bullet on the hand of a Connelville member of the "massachusetts" force. Was it for the work, or for knowing how?

AMENDED DRAFT REGULATIONS.

It was almost too much to expect that the draft regulations, as originally promulgated, would provide an infallible rule by which to determine the many questions that have arisen in practical operation of the draft. There was urgent haste that the selective service law be made operative as soon as practicable after its final approval, hence it was reasonable to expect that, with practically no precedents as a guide, the details of its application could not all be worked out with equal and exact justice within so short a space of time.

The amended regulations which have been approved take care of many discrepancies and inequalities and injustices in the first. These regulations approach much more closely the fundamental idea of selective service while adhering to the essential purpose of the law. This purpose is to provide an army, in the selection of which the least possible hardship will result to dependents and the least possible interference with the conduct of industries associated with the preparation for and conduct of the war.

Under the new classifications those to be first called are men having no dependents. The next class comprises those upon whom the dependence is of the slightest degree and those following are graded according to the number and relationship of dependents. Industrial exemptions are provided for by such a system as will conserve the interests of the nation and maintain production at a high rate.

There can certainly be little objection to the amended regulations except by those who have a disinclination to serve under any system of selection. The classifications appear to have been made with the utmost fairness and with a view to a strictly impartial selection. The task of the local boards being limited to determining the classification to which the registered men belong, will be very much simplified. On the whole the revision will do much to eliminate the deficiencies of the original regulations and facilitate the operation of the law.

PLAYING YOUR PART.

By Ralph Barton Perry.

If you are the average man your only chance of the big thing is to associate yourself with your fellows. Only a few ever attain eminence in science and art. Most of the great achievements are collective achievements. This means what is commonly called sacrifice. One must be prepared to give and to suffer what the cause requires, even though one has to give up private advantages and satisfaction. In this country we are just getting to the point of making sacrifices. Hitherto we have enjoyed the gratitude of an afflicted world and approbation of our own indulgent consciences without really suffering for it. We have not even yet quite come to realize that sacrifice means giving up something we really want.

Like Artemus Ward, we have all been willing to sacrifice our wife's relations on the altar of our country. But now we are facing the dislocation of our private plans, the abandonment of our pet ambitions, the abridgements of our comforts and conveniences, the loss of our lives, and the unspeakable bitterness of bereavement. At such a time it is well to remember that the cardinal virtue in time of action is loyalty. Like other virtues it begins at home. The man who is not loyal to his wife will not be loyal to womanhood. The man who is not loyal to his country will not be loyal to humanity.

National life is a partnership in which men invest their treasures and lives in a common fund. He who accepts citizenship in a democratic state pledges himself to play the game when the game is on. He has his share to shape the rules, and to determine the stake. But when the preliminaries are over, and the action has begun, his fellows have a right to depend upon him. If he holds back now, he is false to those who have gone forward in good faith; he lacks that honorable fidelity by which alone men may be united in bold action and grave peril.

With a few fine examples like that of the Aaron Company in the matter of taking Liberty Bonds and appropriating the first year's interest to the Red Cross, Connelville can set the pace for all sections of the country.

Gaining a captain's commission after five years' service in the army, as a Vanderbilt boy has done, ought to refute the foolish claim that the colored soldier has no show beyond serving in the ranks.

Fuel Dictator Garfield asks the coal men's help. We know of no one more in need of help at the present writing unless it be those who are vainly trying to get some of Dr. Garfield's $200 coal.

The Muscular Union of Connelville struck the right chord when that body voted to make all patriotic engagements "open shop."

Five days only in which to buy Liberty Bonds, but you can buy a big batch in less than a day and not overwork yourself either.

When you remember as Superintendent of Public Safety Frye pointed out in his Dunbar speech, that the fire loss of the past 20 years would buy the whole Liberty Bond issue, you ought to have a new idea of the value, in dollars and cents, of practicing the few simple rules of fire prevention.

THREE CAUSES FOR SHORTAGE OF COAL SAYS THE DICTATOR

Contingencies Upon Which An Increased Supply Depends.

NEED FOR CARS IS FIRST

Energy and Patriotism of Miners and Operators Second; Conservation and Limitation in the Use of Coal Third in Importance; Production Sufficient.

In an official statement issued a few days ago Fuel Administrator Garfield discusses the question of coal shortage after this fashion:

"Is there a shortage of coal? This is the question uppermost in the minds of everyone. This question can not be answered by a simple yes or no.

"On the one hand, we have an increased production of coal as compared with 1916, of nearly 10 per cent and when compared with 1915 the increase is about 25 per cent. On the other hand, we have a greatly increased demand from munition factories and other industries working on necessary government orders. The production of these factories is needed by ourselves and our allies if we are to fight the war successfully. In addition to this, the railroads must have more coal if they are to move the troops and supplies.

"Whether the increased demand will be met by an increase of supply which will also leave for the domestic consumer all the coal he needs will depend, first, upon the coal supply; second, upon the energy and patriotism of the miners, coal operators, and laborers; third, upon the loyal recognition by every citizen that he is responsible for conservation and limitation in the use of coal to the utmost possible extent.

"The question of coal supply is put first, because at the present time, the limitation of production of coal is increased more by the inability of mines to get sufficient cars every day, so that they may operate continuously. Many of the largest mines are able to run at only half capacity much of the time, owing to the inability of the railroads to supply the necessary cars. The mine will run at full capacity one or two days of the week and at partial capacity for two more days, and is unable to run at all the remaining two days because there are absolutely no cars in which to put the coal as it comes out of the mines.

"The Fuel Administration, as well as the railroads, are working energetically on this problem of getting more cars to the mines, and there is every hope that this shortage will be gradually remedied. The problem of quick loading, quick emptying, and quick journeys from mine to destination has been receiving a great deal of attention by the railroads and mine experts, as well as the Fuel Administration. Much is hoped, also, from reducing the number of coal cars which are used throughout the country for gravel, stones, and other purposes.

"Our production has shown a steady increase over last year's figures, so that the total bituminous coal mined in 1917 will be about 50,000,000 tons greater than in 1916, and increased production of anthracite coal will show an even higher percentage.

"Complaints have been received from some mines that the increase in wages of miners has resulted in a falling off of production. It is charged that miners will quit work when they have earned a certain amount of money during the week, and thus the higher wages shorten the working time. In most cases where investigations have been made, however, it is shown that the short time has resulted much more from the shortage of cars than from the unwillingness of men to put in full hours.

"It is the opinion of the Fuel Administration that if all the people will show the same patriotism in the use of coal which the miners and mine operators are showing in its production, there will be enough coal this year for all war purposes and still leave all that is necessary for domestic industries and for keeping the people warm."

PLEA TO RE-OPEN THE RATE CASE

Is to Be Made Before Interstate Commerce Commission Nov. 5, Upon Request of Railroads.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has responded in the plea of Eastern railroads for financial relief by re-opening the 15 per cent rate advance case, so far as these carriers are concerned. The first hearing was set for November 5, here.

In so doing the commission acted practically on its own initiative, dismissing as "in error" a suggestion made by the carriers at the conference last week to the effect that the 15 per cent case be continued "at least 60 days."

The railroad had asked at the conference that a method of procedure be adopted under which they might obtain speedily advances upon certain commodities upon which they were refused by the commission last June, notably grain and grain products, dressed meats, petroleum, sand, cement and stone. The commission's response provides a speedy procedure under which the railroads may present data looking to a raise in rates on these products.

It is regarded as probable that the Southern and Western carriers, particularly the latter, already showing reductions in net earnings, will join in the request for an advance.

Under the present ruling, the Eastern roads will have to show conclusively the need of increased rates before the proposed increases will be authorized. The present proceedings simply permit the roads to present their case and apparently a much larger case than the railroads had figured on presenting so soon.

WAR TALK.

I leave my work to rest the Kaiser throughout the neighborhood; my wife remarks that I'd be wiser if I would feed the cattle and the sheep with a paddle, while I am planning peace and battle, retreat and advance. The war with which my readers are great things they do not need; they care not for war's disaster. If there are times when I'm despondent because I have no chance to point out all the punk, dimpled, benevolent they've pulled in France. I know just why the boys are so glad to get out of the line, and I know just why they want to put an end to strike unholy and break the Germans now. But when I start my explanation, my wife gets on my trail, and draws me from my contemplation, to pick a water pail. She doesn't care to hear of trenches, or of the German stunts, she says I ought to take some exercise and fix the kitchen pump. She doesn't care about the navy that sails the dark blue sea; she says I'd have to stir the gravy which she is brewing tea. And thus the patriot's reward, who loves the war to chew, there's always something punk and sordid that he is billed to do.

THE PAST.

The well enough to say the past is ancient history and dead. Yet every yesterday returns to cheer or haunt us as we tread. On what is past our loves are built, from bygone worth we reap our praise. Today we are the sum of all the good and bad of yesterdays.

We cannot bury in the night the cowardice that we have shown. The trick by which we win today tomorrow will be clearly known. We are today what we have been, not what we pledge ourselves to be. The future is the hidden book, the past is all that mortals see.

Men judge the promises we make by promises that we have made. The credit of a man depends upon the debt he has just paid. And ever as we march along the judgment of the world we find is founded on the good and bad, the false and true we leave behind.

A friend is one who has been kind, not merely one who is to be kind. We cannot leave our sins behind and start each day from a blank free. We stand upon our yesterday's, tomorrow we must face the day. Not as the men would like to be, but as the men we are today.

The proof of the newspaper advertising pudding is not so much in the eating as in the delightful after effects.

To illustrate: A large Philadelphia manufacturer had used other media, and it was only after much persuasion he was induced to try newspapers.

After one year's experiment his sales manager wrote the BUREAU OF ADVERTISING:

"Results have been so encouraging as to sell our company a national campaign of advertising through the newspapers."

When all is said and done it is results that count. And newspaper advertising gives results.

The BUREAU OF ADVERTISING, American Newspaper Publishers Association, 505 World Bldg., New York City, will be glad to present facts to manufacturers and distributors on the use of newspaper advertising.

SCOTSDALE FACES SUGAR FAMINE; NO RELIEF IS IN SIGHT

Restaurants Forced to Use
Brown When White Cannot be Secured.

PLANNING FOR HALLOWEEN

Committees Meet and Report Progress,
Then Adjourn to Meet Again on Friday Night; Halloween Dance is Planned; Hi-Y Club Election.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Oct. 24.—Scottsdale is facing a sugar famine. Yesterday the restaurants were serving brown sugar. Patrons are now adapting themselves to the use of brown until white sugar comes. This brings before the people the fact that they must economize, possibly in a great many ways. The stores did not have sugar yesterday, but late in the afternoon a man came down Pittsburg street with two sacks of sugar, containing 20 pounds. One of the leading business men remarked that he should be punished for buying more than his share, and having nerve to walk away with it, when so many other people in Scottsdale needed it.

Discusses Halloween.
The committees on arrangement for Halloween met and discussed the affair, showing much enthusiasm over it. The meeting was continued until Friday evening.

Halloween Dance.
Invitations are out for a dance on Tuesday evening, October 30 in Reid hall, Scottsdale. The hours are from 8.30 until 2 o'clock. The ball is a masquerade and is in charge of the alumni. Everything in the line of decorations, programs, etc., will be in keeping with Halloween. Kierle's orchestra will furnish the music. There will also be cards and lunch. The committee in charge consists of John Bloom, Fred Collins, Meyer Morris, George Lips, William Muir, Joseph Maloy and Frank Newingham.

Line at Pleasant Unity.
The daughters of Teobella were royally entertained by the committee in charge on Monday evening at the Jordan Hotel, Pleasant Unity. From Scottsdale to Pleasant Unity the trip was made by auto. The decorations were in keeping with Halloween. A nice lunch was served. Forty-seven were present, guests being from out of town.

Miss Snelzer Host.
Miss Mayme Snelzer of South Broadway entertained a number of her friends last evening with a masquerade party. Games and music were the amusements of the evening. Refreshments were served.

Masquerade Party.
Miss Queenie Holmes entertained at her West Pittsburg street home last evening with a masquerade party.

Rummage Sale.
The ladies of the Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church will have a rummage sale in the Dick room on Pittsburg street. Any person who wishes to donate articles for the sale can have them delivered in the room by calling any member of the society.

Mrs. Annie McKavenaugh.
Mrs. Annie McKavenaugh, aged 48 years, wife of Mike McKavenaugh, died at her home at Morgan station yesterday. Funeral services will be held at the St. John's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and interment will follow in St. John's cemetery.

Club Officers.
At a meeting of the Hi-Y club officers were chosen as follows: President, Merl Waggoner; vice president, Clyde Kelly; secretary, Frank Morrison; treasurer, Percy Porter. On Sunday afternoon the Hi-Y club will have as its speaker Colonel E. E. Robbins who will talk on "Legislation and the War." The general public is being invited and it is thought that there will be a record crowd at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium where the address will be given. Three o'clock is the time set.

Infected Hand.
Mrs. Edward Workman of Hawkeye, is suffering with a very badly infected hand. Mrs. Workman, while scrubbing ran a hairpin in her hand. Dr. J. T. Strickler has lanced the wound several times.

For Sale.
Seven room house, one acre land, new stable, best of water for $1800.00. Six room house with heater, 1-2 acre lot at Owmsdale, on terms for $2000.00.

COMPANY D'S NEW LOCATION A MILE FROM FORMER ONE

a natural drainage and we will hardly be flooded out again here.

Our training for a few days now will consist of cleaning up and grubbing. If you people don't exactly know what that word means, just ask any Teah boy here at camp and he sure will tell you. After we get a drill ground cleared we will continue our intensive training program.

Although there is lots of work to be done our officers still let us have our holidays. Today being Saturday, all the boys are off for Augusta.

George McCormick, as usual, began to get ready for "town" at 7.30.

The noted war correspondent, Scott Lysinger, is sick in bed today with infantary paralysis, so he had to substitute in order to get the news back home. Scott, outside of that, is a rather good soldier.

George Minnie wants to know if the Adams Express is still running. He has worried a great deal for he thinks with his absence it can not keep up.

Tent No. 2 has a new member. "Doc" Wells is now a "prophet," and although he is of a quiet nature, "Doc" is fast learning "the mysteries of the deep," from Oliver "Jawn" Moser.

"Bud" Powell only has one pair of leggings, so when he washes them he "hiss the hay." He always manages to have them in the tub, too, when Sergeant Bissel wants him.

The regimental canteen is now on our company street between the mess shack and our tent. We all are sorry for we run up there every few seconds and we fear they will get all our gold. Some of the boys suggest moving it to Augusta.

One good thing, all the boys can now save money, for we are about six miles from Augusta.

"Jimmie" sure is some popular k.d. He gets all the mail, and today a "yellow jacket" came in to call on him. Jimmie almost got stung, too.

Bert Richey and Clarence Cooper took a vacation and went to town today.

Lloyd Detweiler received a box from a friend and we all enjoyed the candy very much. Thanks!

George Broad says there is only one thing wrong with the new camp; that is, the wood pile is too high. Extra duty for George.

"Sam" Wurtz received a letter from "Sam" Harry in France, saying he hoped to see us all soon.

We, especially the C. H. S. boys, sure were sorry to hear of our team's defeat at Greensburg. We all sincerely hope that they come back strong and trim J. H. S. by a good score.

Top Sergeant Durt of Company D says he needs a spy glass to look on his company street.

Our base ball games have all been cancelled row on account of no grounds.

Walt Bixler got a box of cokes yesterday and "set 'em up."

Mount Pleasant

Special to The Courier.

- MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 24.—On Friday and Saturday evenings from 6 to 10 o'clock, the members of No. 6 board will examine 100 men for the next 35 per cent draft contingent. Fifty have been called for each evening.

Something over 800 men have been called for examination so far. Orders have not come designating what day to send the men. There will be two negroes with this quota. They are Carl Lantz and George Lewis.

May Abandon Party.
The members of the Senior class will have a meeting this evening to decide if they shall have a party on Halloween. This is an annual class affair but when the matter came up this year, war conditions very forcibly impressed themselves on the members and some thought that it was not proper to have a party when our men were in hard training and at the front.

Her Brother Dies.
Mrs. Lewis Miller was called to New Kensington by the death of her brother, who had been ill of pneumonia.

Big Snowfall.
Snow began falling last night about 11 o'clock and continued until morning.

Repairing Bad Street.
Street Commissioner William Lobinger and his crew of men are patching the badly worn places on Main street and making some improvements on the street that could hardly be traveled over before. The brick was very soft and wagons from the mountain were unable to get up the street.

Notes.
Mrs. Mabel Eshehoan and baby left this morning for their Kansas home after a four weeks' visit here.

NUVATED The Power Behind The Strong Arm of IRON

Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York City Physician and Medical Author says: "There can be no strong, vigorous, iron men nor beautiful, healthy, well-checked women without iron—Nuvated Iron taken three times per day after meals will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks 100 per cent in two weeks' time in many instances. It aids the old forms of medicine from which many people suffer, and thereby do more harm than good. Take only genuine iron—Nuvated Iron." It is dispensed in this city by A. A. Clarke and all good druggists.

What Happened When an Inquisitive Four Footed Beast Came Upon a Curious Sea Creature—Battle in Which Both of the Contestants Suffered.

A PUSSYCAT.

I noticed today our cat Tabby is becoming somewhat of a hunter, and I hope she is not getting into naughty ways.

If our Tab takes to hunting let's hope she'll have the luck of Blackie, a big cat that lived by the seashore, where she could go out and pick up fish now and then.

Blackie did not mind waiting her paws when she was after fish. One day as she was strolling along the beach she noticed a queer creature scuttling in front of her. Anything that moved interested Blackie. She darted after the little creature to see what it was. When she got closer she sniffed the air cautiously.

"Why, it's a fish!" said Blackie to herself. And then Blackie was more interested than ever. Her mouth watered, as she thought perhaps she would get a meal.

The queer creature seemed to be covered with a shell, and it sidled along in a funny way that made Blackie laugh.

"It had ten feet to walk on! I guess I wouldn't walk sideways," Blackie sneered. "I'll stir that up a little."

Blackie raised a paw and patted the creature gently on one side. Then she patted it on the other, but not quite so gently. The queer fish stopped and raised its two front legs, that were armed with very sharp claws. Blackie's tail was switching playfully about.

Quick as a wink the claws reached out for Blackie's tail and then closed on it. Blackie gave a howl that could have been heard most a mile, and then she rolled over and tried to shake off the crab, for, of course, you know it was a crab.

Mr. Crab didn't care a snap for Blackie's claws. He wore a stout shell on his back, and the scratches never touched him. Neither did Blackie's teeth when she gave up scratching and tried biting. Indeed, Mr. Crab seemed to hang on tighter for every shake he got.

At last Blackie could stand no more, and, jumping up, she dashed home as fast as she could, hoping to get relief there.

Her folks killed the crab and at last got the claws out of Blackie's tail. Then she washed it with the tears in her eyes.

It was swollen for a long time, but at last it got better, but to this day the scar is on the tail, and Blackie wouldn't go near a crab for anything you could offer her.

LEONARD MAKES BIG MONEY

Lightweight Champion Grabbed Off $65,000 in Past Year—Fine Future Is Before Him.

Many a bank president would consider that he had achieved the height of his ambition if he could grab $65,000 a year, as Benny Leonard has done during the past twelve months in the ring.

Benny got about $800 for beating Freddie Welsh, and the $11,804 he earned when he met Johnny Kilbane at Philadelphia is a small part of his total earnings for the year. But Leonard has kept busy in the ring. His manager, Billy Gibson, has always had him well booked and has always managed to get him fair-sized purses. So Benny Leonard.

Leonard's earnings have piled up faster than those of many a shrewd-headed business man.

Before another year has passed Leonard will have more than doubled his earnings of the past twelve months, for the lightweight championship is certainly worth its weight in gold.

"No. Don't think so," Bill remarked very curtly. He never is pleasant in Toledo anyway.

"What's the matter?"

"I've got too many I. W. W. pitchers on my club."

The Toledo writer got a translation of I. W. W. from Clymer, and it reads as follows: "I won't work any afternoon I have to."

FIRST TRIPLE PLAY IS MADE

Description of Thriller Pulled Off on Forbes Field—Stunt Engineered by Boeckel.

The triple play made in the Pittsburgh-Boston game of September 18 is said to be the first ever pulled off on Forbes Field. With the bases full in the second inning of the second game, Myers hit to Boeckel, who threw to Schmidt, forcing a runner at the plate. Schmidt sent the ball to first ahead of the slow-moving Myers, and when Kelly tried to come on home from second he was retired by a throw back from first to the catcher.

REAL APPETIZERS

How to Tempt the Family Taste Even When It's Jaded.

CANNY WAYS OF FLAVORING.

You Can Make Old Standby Dishes Appear Like a French Chef's Triumph by Combining Familiar Foods in New Way—Just Try a Few For Fun.

If you have had baked, stuffed, fried, escalloped and raw tomatoes until the family resents their appearance on the table try stewing them with several grated onions. The most delicate way to stew tomatoes is in a double boiler, using no water upon them.

A single clove cooked in the cream of tomato soup will give it that different flavor so frequently desired. And two or three will also improve vegetable soup. Be careful not to overdo the flavoring in any dish. The delicate suggestion is all a good cook favors.

A pinch of summer may be added to spinach with pleasing results, coriander seeds or a clove to beets, and curry powder—a more trifling-to Brussels sprouts. The epicure would doubtless enjoy a sifting of nutmeg on his cantaloupe, especially if he likes also a bit of sugar with it.

Onions baked in their skins is a most uncommon way of preparing this vegetable, but it has its advocates among those persons who dote upon corn roasted in the husk, potatoes cooked in their jackets and bananas baked in the peeling. The true flavor is preserved by such concentration of heat.

Those who condemn summer squash for its insipidity may have a change of heart if an onion be cooked with the vegetable. It takes away that flat taste.

Grated cheese is very useful in correcting a multitude of common things. It is good sprinkled over lettuce and is excellent added to salad dressings for most of the vegetable salads. It blends deliciously with potatoes in any form, and some persons cannot conceive an apple pie without such an accompaniment. To grate the cheese over the pie and place in a hot oven long enough to melt is the latest wrinkle.

An omelet is a dainty dish always, but it takes on a more savory air when some minced nasturtiums or mint leaves are mixed with it.

If you make a practice of hiding a surprise in the croquettes no difficulty will be encountered in inducing the family to consume these palatably left over concoctions. A nut or a cherry, a mushroom, a plump raisin, a date, an olive or a bit of fig or candied ginger might serve as the coveted hidden treasure.

Marshmallows sometimes prove to be just the touch that makes the dessert go around—so often! Cover a fruit custard pudding with them and brown in the oven or fill the cavities of baked peaches with them and brown. If whipped cream is often used vary it by adding some melted chocolate or cinnamon to it.

Many think that grapefruit cannot be improved, but doubtless they have never eaten it sweetened with honey instead of sugar or had a few spoonfuls of grape juice poured over it. Let the honey stand on it overnight. Other fruits may be treated in the same fashion. Honey is especially good on baked apples.

By the way, did you know that a thin section of grapefruit was the latest thing to serve with afternoon tea in place of lemon?

For the usual bread pudding substitute apples, peaches or cherries for the customary raisins.

Try baking pears just as you would apples, stuffing the cavities with nuts or candied ginger. If the pan of apples to be baked is set on top of the stove and allowed to boil about ten minutes before setting in the oven they will not shrink so much in the baking. Peeling the fruit about halfway down will produce a much neater looking specimen, and slashing the peeling in four places at the top will prevent bursting.

When canning fruit don't forget to inject the unusual if there is a chance for it. Lemon juice, cinnamon and allspice will improve almost any jam, generally so cloying. Apples are fine added to chili sauce, also to many jams and jellies.

Peach Water Ice. Rub peaches through a sieve until seed is obtained. Boil one-half pound of lump sugar with two cupsful of water and the strained juice of one lemon for ten minutes and add it to the peach puree. Add a few drops of red color and one-half teaspoonful of almond extract. When cold freeze in the usual way.

Hidden Name. Take what is first in a name, first in affection, first in righteousness and first in kindness and you will have the name of a man who wrote a book of the New Testament.

Answer—Mark.

MAKING NO BONES ABOUT IT.

The town's champion bar had just fallen on the pavement, and they had carried him to the corner drug store and called the doctor. A few minutes' examination revealed the fact that his leg had been broken. Regaining consciousness, he asked the doctor, "How is it, doc? Am I hurt pretty badly?"

"Well," returned the medical man, "it might be worse, but I think that you have broken your shin."

"Oh, no, doc," groaned the injured one, "don't say that." And he swooned away, never to revive.

Electric Irons, Rubber Gas Hose And Other Fire Hazards Discussed

In the concluding installment of the Public Safety Director M. B. Pryor's address delivered at the Dunbar Fire Prevention Day celebration last week, misuse of electric irons, rubber hose, hot plates and careless use of gasoline are discussed.

The second installment of the instructive talk follows:

"I want to call your attention to the electric iron. I don't believe there was ever a better friend of the housewife than an electric iron, but I want to tell you that it is a dangerous thing to fool with carelessly. I know of a case in a nearby town that happened just the other day. The maid went to the back gate to have a chat with the grocery boy and left the iron with the ironing board. The grocery boy saved the house but not the laundry.

"Another fire hazard that I want to talk about is the gas hose. I suppose that half the houses in Dunbar and in Conneltsville for that matter are equipped with rubber hose gas connections. It is too bad that there is not a law preventing the use of rubber hose for this purpose since the people themselves will not try to see the danger in their use. Not only is there a great danger from fire, but of loss of life from explosion or asphyxiation. If you are as wise as I think you are, you will go home tonight and take off all the rubber hose connections you have about the house and burn them up, and tomorrow connect your stores solidly.

"The careless use of hot plates is another source of untold fires, usually in light housekeeping apartments. Most of the trouble is found where hot plates are set upon an ordinary store box without even a piece of tin to protect the wood. Shortly there is an accumulation of grease on the box and some morning when you're sizzling your bacon in a big hurry to catch the half past car there's a sudden blaze.

"Women thoughtlessly cause a whole lot of fires in the reckless handling of gasoline cleaning garments, gloves, etc. Why I have seen them working away with half a gallon of this deadly fluid on the kitchen table, with the gas stove going full on as if they were just sprinkling the family wash. That's a mighty dangerous practice and just why there have not been more fatal fires is a problem that I have not been able to solve. It is just as safe to play foot ball with a stick of dynamite as it is to handle gasoline carelessly. Get out of doors and then if something happens you will have a better chance to save yourself from being badly burned or perhaps fatally injured.

"Every man and woman should be a fire inspector in his own home or business place. No little detail should be overlooked to make his home safe. Remember the wife and mother has her hands full in her household duties and every precaution that you take against fire means safety to your little ones and to your home. Every day we read of some unfortunate little child being burned to death through some cause or other that might have been prevented with just a little forethought on the part of their parents. If we practice and preach fire prevention we will have no fires and our children will become precautions and there will be none of these sad news items.

"No man who values his home or his life or the lives of his wife and children should let his home go unprotected. Every home ought to have in it a fire extinguisher and his wife and his children should be taught how to use it. The cost of this protection is very little and no one knows just how soon he will be called upon to use it.

Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD, Oct. 24.—The Smithfield soldier boys realize that money is as essential to a successful prosecution of the war as their services at the front. Earl Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Morgan who is now in Camp Lee, Va., emphasizes the sentiment in a letter to W. S. Leach, cashier of the First National bank here by subscribing for a $500 Liberty Bond and says his company has subscribed for more than $16,000 of the bonds. Melford Guiler who is in Camp Meade, also sent his subscription to Mr. Leach for a $300 bond and his father, Dr. H. B. Guiler, his for a $1,000 bond. The doctor is in Camp Dix, N. Y.

Dora Lockard of Point Marion motored through Saturday.

Mrs. Hannah Abraham and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Murphy visited Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Townsend near Mason-town Sunday.

Earl Deffenbaugh of Bowwood was a business visitor Saturday. He called at the bank and subscribed for a Liberty bond.

Samuel Thompson who was driving the truck when J. F. Long was killed, accompanied the remains to Hazelton Saturday. Services conducted by Rev. Ralph Bell, were held Friday evening from the late home of the deceased. His father and mother who had been visiting and had intended to stay all winter were present and also accompanied the remains to Hazelton as did Mrs. Eberhart a friend of the family. The mine and coke plant suspended operation Saturday out of respect for the deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Snyder after a five weeks stay with friends and relatives in town and country left over the Pennsylvania railroad this morning for their home in Wilkes-Barre.

Marion Show and wife of Bentleyville visited their parents here over Saturday and Sunday.

B. B. O'Neil, wife and E. Roger of New Salem spent Sunday with relatives in the borough.

J. G. and Owen Jones have returned from a two weeks visit with their uncle, Ralph Jones at Winston, Iowa. They took in the big power dam at Keokuk on their return. This big power plant is under the control of the government, and since the European war the regulations are very strict as to permitting visitors to go over it. It was only through the efforts in their behalf of W. B. Collins, an attorney of Keokuk that they were granted the privilege. They had a letter of introduction from the writer to Mr. Collins, who was captain of the writer's company in the Civil War, and was mustered out of service as Major of his Regiment. The Jones boys speak of the highest terms of the courtesy extended them by Major Collins and say that without his assistance they would not have been permitted to see this wonder of modern engineering skill that makes a lake of the father waters from five to 10 miles wide for 50 miles above it.
